

The Wolf and The Goat – Short Story for kids

Once, there lived a goat with seven kids near a forest. Every day, the kids went to the forest to play. One day, the kids were noticed by a wolf. It secretly followed the kids to find their home.

The next day, before leaving home, the Goat told its kids to be alert and that it would come back soon.

Soon after the Goat left, the wolf reached the house and said, " Kids! Open the door, Mommy is back". The innocent Kids opened the door. The wolf attacked the little ones. He ate six little goats.

His tummy became full, and he burped and left home. When the mother returned, she was shocked to see the door open. The kids were nowhere to be found. One of the little goats came running to his mother. He said everything that happened. The Mother goat went out searching for the wolf. They saw him Sleeping under a tree near the house.

The mother goat very quietly went near him and slit open his tummy and took her kids from the tummy and filled it with big stones and stitched it back with tread and needle.

The wolf was so thirsty when he woke up. He went near the well to drink water. As his stomach was heavy with stones, he fell into the well when he bent down to drink water. At last the wolf died, and the goats lived very happily.

Moral Of the Story:

1. Wicked ones are always punished in the end.
2. If you are bad to others, bad happens to you too.